Exhibition

City of Newcastle is proposing the following:

Naming of unnamed lane in Lambton, running parallel to Durham Road and Womboin Road and extending from Wallarah Road to Karoola Road.

This lane need to be named to facilitate address numbering allocation and to aid emergency service location and service delivery to properties fronting the lane.

The new name has been approved by City of Newcastle and the NSW Geographical Names Board. Members of the community are invited to view and make comment on the proposed road name.

Please see the below table and location map:

Proposed Road Name	Suburb	Name Origin	Road Extent Description
Snowball Lane	Lambton	The road is named after Ralph Snowball, a Lambton-based photographer whose works in the late 19th and early 20th centuries have given historians significant insight into local life at the time. He was also appointed as the first Council Clerk of the former Municipality of New Lambton.	The road begins at its intersection with Wallarah Road and continues in a western direction for 150 metres where it intersects with Orlando Road. It then continues in a western direction for a further 260 metres before coming to an end at its intersection with Karoola Road.
